

BowtieGuyMD

How to Get the Most Out of the Visitor Center

The following is a guide of questions and actions to take at any visitor center in order to get anything and everything you can from them, in a good way of course.

Start by introducing yourself, and if you are doing an awesome road trip, tell them about it because most like to hear about that sort of thing.

Then ask the following questions:

1. Please tell me about the free things to do in_____?
2. What Noteworthy but not necessarily free things are there to do in _____?
3. What can I do that is culturally relevant to this city and or different than from what I can find in_____ (where you come from)?
4. Do you have a map of the local area?

Then ask About the following:

5. Where is the closest Starbucks, Walmart and McDonalds?
6. Ask if they have any discounts, coupons or partnerships with any of the local tourist activities and or other businesses.

Then Before Leaving:

7. Grab as many interesting brochures as you would like
8. Sit down and map out where the things you are interested in doing are in relation to you or where you are staying.
9. Then from there you can make a logical plan for the time you have in the city.

Then DON'T hesitate to ask any questions you have while you are at the Visitor Center (that's why you stayed around to map things out)

